- I created this site because I strongly dislike how many knowledgeable individuals do not share their accumulated knowledge.
- I built this site as an engineer with 25 years of programming experience to share some of my practical knowledge and solutions.
- I designed this site to assist with development by providing solutions that don't need to be recreated.
- I made this site so that if you're stuck on a problem, you can contact me. I believe we can agree on a realistic plan, and I will develop the solution for you.
- I created this site so that if you need a special solution, I can demonstrate that I can solve your problem too!

PS

The lamaPLC became "llama" or easier "lama" PLC because it is my youngest daughter's favorite animal (and the unicorn).
